Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 01 Aug 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Mostly dry in north but heavy showers parts of south.

This Evening and Tonight:
Showers in southern England mostly dying out but quite a lot of cloud remaining, keeping temperatures up. Further north, largely dry, with some clear spells allowing it to turn a little chilly and misty in some countryside locations.

Monday:
Northern areas of UK keep plenty of dry weather and occasional sunshine. Further south, some brighter, warmer interludes, but showers are likely to turn heavier in places later.

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Remaining changeable with showers, perhaps some longer spells of rain, some heavy. The best of any fine weather likely across the north on Tuesday. Temperatures close to average.
